

EMILY ABERCROMBIE

Emily studied early childhood education and elementary education at Rick's College and at Idaho State University. She has always wanted to be a teacher and absolutely loves her job. She has taught preschool for 14 years, and now teaches K-2nd grades. She has also taught Native American flute and music classes at Lillian Vallely School for a number of years.

When she is not teaching, she is home with her husband and six kids. As a family they enjoy camping, overlanding, hiking, and exploring the great outdoors. She loves to read, garden, and craft.